Why is it important to maintain the system every year?

Your ventilation system is managing the removal of stale air and replacement of new air to your home. As it moves air it can become clogged with dust, debris and grease which builds up and which can impact performance.

Without regular maintenance, you may experience increased humidity or a 'stuffy' feeling inside your home as well as increased noise and even issues with condensation and mould.

Your ventilation system looks after your indoor air quality and comfort. You can't see the air, but you can feel it!
